

William Martin

Dear Hiring Manager,

I've been working part-time as a freelance web developer for the past five years. I've been looking for a position like the one you've posted that would be a good opportunity to do something full time that I'm passionate about but haven't yet been able to make into a full-time career.

I think I'd be a good fit for this position based on what I've seen on Indeed. I've got direct experience with most of what you've listed on the posting, and I'm always learning more. Ultimately I'm looking for a company that I can grow with and learn from. I have a commitment to producing high quality work that borders on perfectionism and I find learning new things to be one of life's greatest enjoyments.

If you're looking for an indication of my code quality, please check out my github at <https://github.com/wjkmartin>.

Thank you for your consideration,

Will

WORK EXPERIENCE

Freelance Developer 2014- current

- Provided design and development of websites for local businesses for the last several years. More recently, working with a Vancouver based non-profit for a rebranding and multi-page site redesign. This involved consulting with their team, determining their needs, providing a low-fidelity mockup, then designing, developing, and deploying their new pages.
- Main competencies:
  - HTML and Javascript, including ES6 features and JQuery.
  - CSS, SASS.
  - MySQL databases and MongoDB
  - Wordpress
  - Python

Overwaitea Food Group (Save-on-Foods)

Operations Supervisor

March 2019 - current

- Oversees store operations, at times with no oversight, ensuring continued service despite complications or difficult circumstances.
- Deals with customer complaints, ultimately ensuring a positive customer experience and customer retention if it is at all possible. Creativity and resourcefulness are often assets in this regard.
- Uses proprietary internal software to assist in store operations, such as projecting labour requirements, maintaining product database entries, handling invoicing, and managing delivery timelines.
